AMICABLE ADJUSTMENT OF TROUBLE REACHED

Shovel Workers to Return to Duties Wednesday Morning

ORGANIZERS COME HERE

An amicable adjustment of the trouble at the Hussey-Binns Shovel plant here which resulted in the factory being almost entirely closed down for a few days, has been reached and Wednesday morning will see the men back at their work. The handlers department, where the source of the trouble was, through the timely intervention of T. H. Flynn, and J. P. McGinley, of Pittsburg, international organizers of the American Federation of Labor, and John Ferry, an organizer of Charleroi, will resume under conditions imposed by a new set of rules and this will mean the starting again of the entire plant.

Monday night a meeting of the shovel workers composing the local union was held and the contentions were thoroughly discussed. The handlers' work because the matter of going from their own workroom to the blackroom for rivets as required in the new set of rules, was objectionable.

When Mr. Flynn and Mr. McGinley were here they heard the story of the troubles and in their opinion the men the local works had acted unwisely in quitting, without at least first consulting the head officers of the Federation. They decided that the correction was so small that rather than have the employees all idle, the handlers would return to their duties. They were unable to remain for the meeting Monday night, but the organizers took charge and an amicable agreement was attained by the handlers agreeing to get their own rivets in the stockroom, but insisted that the agreement with the superintendent, no other duties would be given on them.

Superintendent Frank M. Haines perfectly willing to have the men return to work. The shut down has been brief, lasting for just a week. An amicable adjustment meets with general approbation.

AMOUNT OF BAIL IS REDUCED FOR ORGANIZER KAVISH

Even Kavish, the alleged labor agitator arrested at Marianna for conspiracy, was before the court at Charleroi Monday morning, his bail, Erwin Cummins, asking for reduction of bail, which at his hearing before Justice Henry Gantz on the charge of conspiracy had been fixed at $500. The court reduced this to $1,000, security for which was given, and Kavish was released, court warning him that he was to stay away from Marianna, where it was alleged that he has made trouble several times among the miners.

WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR COUNTY OFFICES

Republican Executive Committee Plans Meetings to Take Place Over County--To Conduct Vigorous Fight

At a meeting of the Republican county executive committee at Washington Monday an itinerary of meetings was mapped out, and a vigorous campaign planned. Out of the 21 members of the executive committee only two were absent. One of these was Charles F. Thompson of Charleroi, who is sick and away at a sanatorium, and it was arranged that Kerfoot W. Daly, cashier of the Bank of Charleroi, should take Mr. Thompson's place and represent Charleroi during the absence of the latter. The itinerary of meetings arranged begins today and the list is as follows: Tuesday at West Alexander; Wednesday, at Brantstown; Thursday, at Hickory; Friday, at Clayville; and Saturday, at Washington. Next week, Centerville is booked for Monday; California, for Tuesday; Roscoe and Charleroi for Wednesday; Donora, on Thursday; Monongahela, on Friday, and possibly Cannonsburg on Saturday. Speakers for all the meetings have not yet been assigned. An itinerary of Democratic-Key-stone meetings has also been mapped out. Their list of speakers embraces a number of Washington attorneys, and Congressman Curtis H. Gregg, of Westmoreland county, is expected to speak at several of the meetings in the county. In the river district a meeting is scheduled for Thursday of this week at Monongahela, and on Tuesday of next week at California.

PROMOTERS OF NEW INDUSTRY ARE HEARD

Business Men Listen to Proposition of Pittsburg Men Who Would be Willing to Locate Plant Here

At a called session of the Charleroi Business Men's Association Monday evening, representatives of the Hydro-Damp-Proofing and Engineering company were given a hearing relative to locating their plant in Charleroi. This concern, which makes chiefly fireproof window casings, has been doing business for some time in Northside, Pittsburg, but owing to some business reverses, desires to reorganize and seek a new location. After some correspondence the Business Men's Association executive committee sent a committee to Pittsburg to investigate and the meeting Monday night was to hear both the report of the committee and the representatives of the concern.

W. C. McClaskey and B. J. Russell, presented the desires of the company. They gave a statement of their operations in Pittsburg, and showed by photographs and samples what they did. They stated they would like a site and a guaranteed fund of some sort to the amount of $35,000, possibly in the form of a bond issue. They stated they would expect to employ 75 men at the start, which would likely be greatly increased.

A. T. Morgan, Esq., of Pittsburg who looked over the situation with the investigating committee, stated he was present in a dual capacity; first, as a representative of the Speers farm, which was a prospective industrial site, and as second, as a representative of the association. He questioned the representatives of the concern as to their previous business career, their standing and their intentions, by which a very clear view of the situation was obtained. No definite action was taken, and the committee having the matter in charge was continued to further consider the matter.

A representative gathering of Charleroi business people was present, and much interest was manifested in the project.

Serious Coal Famine Threatened for a Hard Winter

MINE TROUBLE FEARED

Suspension May Come at Time When Coal is in the Greatest Demand

Coal will be a scarce article in the great Canadian northwest this winter, according to information that has reached the Pittsburg coal operators. Official warnings have been sent out to the people of the northwest provinces that this winter will be a hard one, and not only that, but a good stock of coal may be necessary because of a threatened suspension next April throughout the coal mining regions. It is a matter of the utmost importance that the northwestern people have a good supply available during the next six months.

As a result of this significant warning, practically all the coal dealers and large consumers in the Canadian northwest have been ordering all the coal they can store and have shipped to them before the lake season closes. The Pittsburg district coal companies are expecting to continue to a later date than for some years past. It is now believed that coal will be sent to the northwestern ports long after the ore movement has ended and the vessels will be forced to return light.

As an early indication of the high pressure under which coal will be moved north from Pittsburg, freight rates have already advanced on lake going vessels. They will increase, the operators say if the haul of coal is but a one-way freight, and the boats return cargoes. The effect on the Pittsburg district of which the Monongahela valley is a big part, will be to continue the mines that have lake trade orders under full capacity for a later period than usual.

The threatened suspension will result from the expiration of the two-year contract between the mines and the operators. It is generally understood that the miners will ask more wages in both the anthracite and bituminous regions. It is also intimated that the operators will refuse to pay more. If this occurs it will result in indefinite suspension, industrial depression and hardship.

FOREIGNER SAID TO HAVE TAKEN VALUABLE WATCH

Anthony Cherebka of Marianna, a young foreigner unable to talk English, admitted in the county court Monday, through an interpreter that he and another fellow had taken a watch from a fellow foreigner. ## THE APPOINTIVE POWER.

One of the results of the recent primary was the indifference of the voters generally to the undue number of minor offices, and the expense and complications of counting and tabulating the same. This led to the impression that there are too many elective offices, and that better results would be attained if many officials would be appointed instead of being elected.

A striking object lesson was given in this respect when Governor John K. Tener appointed the nine Pittsburg councilmen in compliance with the provisions of the new charter. A big howl was made in certain quarters over the Governor usurping the rights of the people, yet when the appointments were made they were of so high a character that the people, regardless of party affiliations have almost unanimously renominated the Governor's appointments, who will be elected at the November election. The Governor's selection was infinitely better than the councilmen the people would have chosen at an election.

Another example is shown by the recent appointments of the school board for Pittsburg by the common pleas courts, as provided by the new code. Fifteen directors are chosen, who have charge of the school affairs of the entire city, instead of an unwieldy body as when the wards were represented. The courts have chosen directors of character and responsibility, and has shown its good judgment and independence by including three women in the selection, who are prominent in uplift work.

It does not take more than ordinary intelligence to see that this school board is of higher standing and character than would have been chosen by the electors, as few directors of this class would make a campaign against candidates who wanted the office for personal and political reasons. It would have been infinitely better for the courts to have appointed all directors in every class, as that would have taken all school affairs out of politics. Other officials could be appointed by the courts with profit and benefit to the public service and it is to be hoped that changes along this line will be made as soon as possible.

A BUILDING UP POLICY.

A Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer hits the nail on the head when he states that what this country needs in a common sense constructive policy that will deal naturally with natural conditions. In a country with so much available land as the United States there is no necessity for a food problem. All that is necessary is for the people to drop the artificial and go back to the natural. Along this line the writer says:

There is a great constructive platform waiting for either national party that cares to take it up—a platform that will be approved by all people with common sense. It is not a very radical program, either. It consists of those real reforms which the people need and which are far more vital to a country than the tariff. A nation can be self-sustaining without outside aid, just as a man on an island can support himself and grow strong though standing alone. And when millions of people are co-operating they should be able to get along without outside aid.

What the country needs most, then, is the development of its waterways, the building of great new highways that will carry the tide of humanity back to the country where the people need not give a hoot about the trusts, and where if the woolen merchants squeeze too hard, the farmer can make a suit last two years instead of one, thus bringing the dealer to terms. It is more profitable to sell one cheap suit a year than to sell one dear one every two years.

Articles rarely become more expensive as a result of consolidation. Cheaper running expenses usually result in cheaper prices to the consumer—unless the corporation is run by unscrupulous men. What the country has to worry about is food production, and the man who takes up the actual development of the United States, who advocates the elimination of expensive commissions to investigate everything under the sun, and who argues that the country should devote itself to building up and not tearing down for the next few years is going to be a winner.

With such vast resources, such rich soil and such wealth in the soil, this country need never fear for the future so long as it works towards natural development and refuses to pay much attention to the public orators who try to excite the public about artificial remedies for purely natural conditions. Less talk and more work is a school-room maxim that could be applied to the United States during the next decade.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"There is only one way to solve the food problem," said a resident of the hill district a few days ago, "and that is to produce more stuff to eat. Many of my Belgian neighbors have taken advantage of the opportunities that exist in the way of gardening, and utilize them to the utmost. I know families who by reason of the gardens they cultivate, have cut down their family expenses at least a couple of hundred dollars a year. That, for a working man, is a whole lot, in addition to being infinitely better for the family."

"In addition to saving the family income by raising stuff, many add to it by the sale of vegetables. I know one family of six or eight children, who realized enough money by the sale of lettuce, green onions and radishes, to buy shoes all around for the family, and all the stuff was raised on the back end of two 22 by 100 lots. The younger children cultivated the stuff and peddled it fresh from door to door each morning. There's enough vacant land in Charleroi to produce stuff to feed a number of families if it were utilized. The garden is the solution of the food problem."

A recent woman visitor to an Ohio city tells of a weights and measure law in effect there. The woman did not know whether it was a State or a city regulation, but it is up to each consumer to look after his or her interests.

"The regulation provides for sales by weight instead of measure, I was told," said the woman. "For instance you go into a grocery and buy a peck of potatoes. In all probability the grocer will measure them in a peck measure, but if you demand weight, he is obliged to weigh the potatoes by a proportionate bushel standard weight. It is the same with everything that is measured, I am told, and if a customer demands weight the dealer is obliged to give it."

To Repair a Map.
A god preparation to use in replacing the pieces which have fallen off the cotton of the map may be made as follows: Beat up a paste of rye flour and add to it good glue in proportion of one-quarter the weight of the flour. Mix well; spread lightly on the cotton, and carefully affix the torn pieces.

YOUNG DONORA MAN IS SENTENCED FOR BEATING DAUGHTER

Charged with having cruelly beaten his two year old daughter, Mary Maroska, of Donora, Max Maroska, a young foreigner, was in court at Washington Monday sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the workhouse at Clarendon for a period of eight months. Maroska's only excuse was that he had drunk a large quantity of alcohol and did not know what he was doing. The child was beaten three different times on three different days and big welts were laid across the child's body. Judge McIlvaine saw the child and the wounds from the whip and said the child was certainly severely beaten.

MONONGAHELA WOMEN TO ORGANIZE UNION

A number of politicians of Westmoreland county flocked to Monessen Monday evening, and a "stand pat" meeting was held. The occasion was featured by the presence of the county Republican chairman, Chester D. Sensenick, of Greensburg. According to statements made by speakers at the meeting a Republican victory is assumed in Westmoreland.

"STAND PAT" MEETING IS HELD AT MONESSEN

Plans are on foot at Monongahela to form a Women's Christian Temperance Union and this evening a committee of women from the Charleroi union will go to that place to attend a meeting, and to discuss plans for forming the organization. It is likely that a union will be formed and the organization perfected at a later meeting.

TIP QUESTION IS SERIOUS

Gratuities of the Season Give a Severe Jolt to Man of Small Income.

"This tip business," said a man of small income, "has come to be a serious matter."

"Every summer I send my wife and daughter to the country, to a modest hotel in a quiet place—does them good and doesn't cost us much more than it would to have them stay home, or didn't use to."

"Years ago we gave some small tips, a little to the waitress and a little to the chambermaid, amounts not great, but now we have to give more, to them and we have to give also to the chef and to the housekeeper and so on, something to everybody that does something for us. It seems to be the custom, and it all counts up."

"This year, for instance, I sent the folks along weekly the little check for their board and their other moderate expenses—and they are always careful about those—and everything is going along very pleasantly and I see us settling the financial problem very nicely, and then a week or two before they are coming home we put down a little memorandum of the tips to give when they come away, and do you know that this year these amounted to $30."

"Thirty dollars; and that gives me—just as it does every year—quite a little jolt. I know it's coming, but I never realize it till it comes."

"You know what Lincoln said about paying bills? that it was easier to pay a big bill if you had the money than a little bill if you hadn't, and that sum up on the tips hits us in something that way. We pay 'em, but it does sort of put the kibosh on our nice little financial schedule."

The Two Classes.
The man who is looking for trouble is a source of endless wonderment to the men who can't get away from it.

LAST WEEK OF THE LAND SHOW

Final Opportunity This Week to See Products Display at Pittsburgh

This is the closing week of the big Land Show in the Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh, where have been assembled since October 12, the finest display of farm, garden, orchard and mineral products, from all sections of the country, ever known in the east. Nothing could be more imposing than the magnificent display from West Virginia, whose unsurpassed resources of all kinds have been put before the public with notably fine judgment. Idaho, Texas, Wyoming, California, Colorado and Virginia, also have exhibits whose preparation cost thousands of dollars. Most of these are to be taken to the Land Show in New York next week, when the Pittsburgh show is over. This discloses the high character of the displays gotten together in behalf of these different states.

The Duquesne Garden is open from 10 to 11, with music constantly during the afternoon and evening by Caputo's band and the famous band of Hawaiian singers and players. Add to these the free illustrated lectures and moving pictures in the lecture hall, relating to land and soil topics, and the visitor to the Land Show from out the city will find in all this a rare opportunity for profitable and delightful employment of a full day, from the opening to the closing of the doors. The admission is but 25 cents.

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

Counting Up. "Think of the golden moments you have wasted playing bridge," said the serious friend. "Yes," replied Mrs. Flimgit, regretfully, "besides a lot of silver coin and paper currency."

Utilized Spare Time. "One can accomplish much by utilizing spare moments." "That's right. That tall girl yonder has read seven summer novels this season while she was dumpy at bridge."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ASHAMED OF HER FACE

This is but one of thousands of cases in which D. D. D. has simply washed away the skin trouble. D. D. D. cleanses the skin of the germs of Eczema, Psoriasis and other serious skin diseases; stops the itch instantly, and when used with D. D. D. soap the cures seem to be permanent. Nothing like D. D. D. for the complexion.

DEEP MYSTERY OF THE LAW

Man Who Won't Support Family Is Imprisoned and Wife Really Pays Penalty.

Mysteries, far beyond the comprehension of the average mortal, are constantly revealed in the law and its administration. The other day a much-harassed woman appeared in a Boston court and complained to the judge that a husband refused to support their two small children. She could get along without him, she said, but she demanded that he be compelled to go to work and help support his offspring. Her story was corroborated by witnesses.

So the judge found the man guilty and sentenced him to one year in the house of correction.

Here was what seems on the surface to be an easy problem. A husband and father, either through disinclination or through inability to find work, is brought into court on a charge of non-support. In order to relieve the situation, he is sent to the house of correction, where he will be kept at work. That he is not able to send his pay envelope home to his family every Saturday night—because there is no pay envelope in such cases—is, in the eye of the law, a minor circumstance. The main thing seems to be that the man has been guilty of an offense and that he is punished for it. He is punished, but it is his wife and his two helpless children who pay the penalty.

The law may be ironical, but it has no sense of humor. "You have been found guilty of not supporting your children," it says, "and therefore I will send you where you cannot support them."

The Pity of It. Just about the time that a woman finds out how to preserve her beauty she discovers that she is so old that it will not be worth while.

Jim's Wife. After the report had been current for a week that Jim's wife, whom Jim had met and married and was still secluding in Chicago, was ugly as sin, a friend who had Jim's interests at heart, ran down the author of the rumor with the intention of making her retract.

"How do you know she is ugly?" he asked. "Have you ever seen her?" "No," said the experienced gossip. "I never have, neither have I seen her picture, nor anybody who has seen either her or her picture, but I know she is ugly, because I had it straight from a person who lives in Chicago that when she ordered a dozen pictures taken just a while before the wedding the photographer made her pay in advance, and a photographer never does that unless the subject is so ugly that she is apt to be discouraged when she sees the pictures and refuse to pay for them on the ground that he hasn't done good work. If you don't believe me ask any photographer."

But Jim's champion let the matter drop.—New York Times

The Collector. The late Edwin A. Abbey had no sympathy with those American millionaires who pay $400,000 or $500,000 for a doubtful Rembrandt or an imputed Fragonard, while painters of genius in their own towns are starving for lack of orders.

Mr. Abbey, at a dinner at his London residence in Tite street, said last year, apropos of the purchase by a New Yorker of a doubtful Titian at an inflated price:

"This type of man knows nothing about art. A man of this type, when Whistler was not yet famous, wanted his wife's portrait done."

"How much will you charge me, Mr. Whistler," he said, "for a lifesize picture of the madam?"

"My price," said Whistler, "will be 12,500."

"The millionaire took up his hat and tick."

"Why," he snorted, turning to go you expect to be paid for your work is if you had been dead 400 or 500 years!"

The Nation of Hotel Keepers. The "playground of Europe" is the very appropriate name bestowed upon Switzerland. In the summer time tourists come from all parts of the world and fill the hotels—the best organized and best kept of any in the world—for the Swiss are a nation of hotel keepers. The statement of the Chocolate Soldier, the hero of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," that his family has a home with three hundred rooms, fifty servants, twenty cows and so on, sounded like a baronial tale until he explained that he was the son of a Swiss hotel keeper. Now the long and severe Swiss winter has been turned to advantage, and even when the great, blue lakes are frozen and the snow mantles the lower hills, the tourist still raves over the varied beauties and grandeur of the Swiss scenery and the many delights of her mountain hostelries.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Made Woman's Opportunity. American typewriters are sold all over the world. Millions are in use. Nothing else that has been invented has been so potent in affording business opportunity for women. It was after she had entered business as a typist that a woman began to branch out into other lines of endeavor.

Sweet-Voiced Frogs. In Japan there is a kind of frog celebrated for his sweet voice called kajiki, and people pay as much as $10 for a pair of these marsh musicians. A poet in Japan keeps a covey of singing frogs at his home, and he sometimes gives a party to his friends, when after listening to the music every guest is asked to write a poem in honor of the frogs.

Dangerous Fool. The fool who cries "Fire!" in a public assembly is a far greater public menace than the fool who rocks the boat, for his opportunity to sacrifice human life is immeasurably greater.

BLAME GIRL FOR THEFT OF GOODS

Thirteen-Year-Old Monessen

Miss is Accused of Shoplifting from Stores

Alleged to have taken from various stores a portion of two trunks full of material, Mary Rossi, 13 years old, daughter of Eustachio Rossi, of Monessen, is being held a prisoner at the Monessen lockup. In spite of her age, it is stated, she was compelled to spend the entire night in the borough jail. It is stated that no information has been made against her.

According to the police court story, little Mary was found in the Bouquet flats, taking a watch. She was placed under arrest. Later a search warrant was gotten out and her home searched with the result that two trunks full of dry goods, clothing, and notions were found. Mary's mother protested that part of the goods had been purchased and the remainder given them by Arab peddlers, who remained all night with them. A dozen merchants who examined the contents of the trunks admitted that some might have been purchased. Constable Watt has been given charge of the case and he is busy making deductions. Meanwhile Mary is being held a prisoner.

AMICABLE ADJUSTMENT OF TROUBLE REACHED

Over 1000 Workers to Return to Duties Wednesday Morning

ORGANIZERS COME HERE

An amicable adjustment of the trouble at the Hursey-Binns Show has been reached. The men here, which resulted in the factory being almost entirely closed for a few days, has been reached. Wednesday morning will see men back at their work. The Hursey-Binns department, where the cause of the trouble was, through timely intervention of T. H. Flynn, and J. P. McGinley, of Pittsburg, international organizers of the American Federation of Labor, and J. P. McGinley, of Pittsburg, an organizer of Charleroi, resume under conditions imposed by a new set of rules and this will be the starting again of the entire plant.

Monday night a meeting of the local workers composing the local union was held and the contents of the agreement were thoroughly discussed. The handlers were present because the matter of going from their own workroom in the room for rivets as required in the new set of rules, was objectionable.

Mr. Flynn and Mr. McGinley here they heard the story of the trouble and in their opinion the men of local works had acted wisely in getting without at least first consulting the head officers of the Federation. They decided that the union was so small that rather than the employees all idle, the handlers would return to their duties. They were unable to remain for the meeting Monday night, but Organizer Flynn took charge and an amicable adjustment was attained by the handlers getting to get their own rivets the stockroom, but insisted that an agreement with the superintendent, no other duties would be on them.

Superintendent Frank M. Haines perfectly willing to have the men to work. The shut down has been brief, lasting for just a week. Amicable adjustment reached with all approbation.

PROMOTERS OF NEW INDUSTRY ARE HEARD

Business Men Listen to Proposition of Pittsburg Men Who Would be Willing to Locate Plant Here

At a called session of the Charleroi Business Men's Association Monday evening, representatives of the Hydro-Damp-Proofing and Engineering company were given a hearing relative to locating their plant in Charleroi. This concern, which makes chiefly fireproof window casings, has been doing business for some time in Northside, Pittsburg, but owing to some business reverses, desires to reorganize and seek a new location. After some correspondence the Business Men's Association executive committee sent a committee to Pittsburg, to investigate and the meeting Monday night was to hear both the report of the committee and the representatives of the concern. W. C. McClaskey and B. J. Russell, presented the desires of the company. They gave a statement of their operations in Pittsburg, and showed by photographs and samples what they did. They stated they would like a site and a guaranteed fund of some sort to the amount of $35,000, possibly in the form of a bond issue. They stated they would expect to employ 75 men at the start, which would likely be greatly increased. A. T. Morgan, Esq., of Pittsburg who looked over the situation with the investigating committee, stated he was present in a dual capacity; first, as a representative of the Speers farm, which was a prospective industrial site, and as second, as a representative of the association. He questioned the representatives of the concern as to their previous business career, their standing and their intentions, by which a very clear view of the situation was obtained. No definite action was taken, and the committee having the matter in charge was continued to further consider the matter. A representative gathering of Charleroi business people was present, and much interest was manifested in the project.

Interpretation of Law by Two Judges Renders Usual Announcement Unnecessary

That the coming fall election is a municipal and a general election is the advice received by Sheriff John Murphy and hence the sheriff will not make the usual proclamation. The same question was up in Allegheny county courts and there Judge John D. Shaffer ruled that no sheriff's proclamation should be issued. Sheriff Murphy had taken the matter up with his counsel Melville and Clarke, who advised him not to make the proclamation.

Serious Coal Famine Threatened for a Hard Winter

MINE TROUBLE FEARED

Suspension May Come at Time When Coal is in the Greatest Demand

Coal will be a scarce article in the great Canadian northwest this winter, according to information that has reached the Pittsburg coal operators. Official warnings have been sent out to the people of the northwest provinces that this winter will be a hard one, and not only that, but a good stock of coal may be necessary because of a threatened suspension next April throughout the coal mining regions. It is a matter of the utmost importance that the northwestern people have a good supply available during the next six months.

As a result of this significant warning, practically all the coal dealers and large consumers in the Canadian northwest have been ordering all the coal they can store and have shipped to them before the lake season closes. The Pittsburg district coal companies are expecting to continue to a later date than for some years past. It is now believed that coal will be sent to the northwestern ports long after the ore movement has ended and the vessels will be forced to return light.

As an early indication of the high pressure under which coal will be moved north from Pittsburg, freight rates have already advanced on lake going vessels. They will increase, the operators say if the haul of coal is but a one-way freight, and the boats return cargoes. The effect on the Pittsburg district of which the Monongahela valley is a big part, will be to continue the mines that have lake trade orders under full capacity for a later period than usual.

The threatened suspension will result from the expiration of the two-year contract between the mines and the operators. It is generally understood that the miners will ask more wages in both the anthracite and bituminous regions. It is also intimated that the operators will refuse to pay more. If this occurs it will result in indefinite suspension, industrial depression and hardship.

THE APPOINTIVE POWER.

One of the results of the recent primary was the indifference of the voters generally to the undue number of minor offices, and the expense and complications of counting and tabulating the same. This led to the impression that there are too many elective offices, and that better results would be attained if many of officials would be appointed instead of being elected.

A striking object lesson was given in this respect when Governor John K. Tener appointed the nine Pittsburg councilmen in compliance with the provisions of the new charter. A big howl was made in certain quarters over the Governor usurping the rights of the people, yet when the appointments were made they were of so high a character that the people, regardless of party affiliations have almost unanimously renominated the Governor's appointments, who will be elected at the November election. The Governor's selection was infinitely better than the councilmen the people would have chosen at an election.

Another example is shown by the recent appointments of the school board for Pittsburg by the common pleas courts, as provided by the new code. Fifteen directors are chosen, who have charge of the school affairs of the entire city, instead of an unwieldy body as when the wards were represented. The courts have chosen directors of character and responsibility, and has shown its good judgment and independence by including three women in the selection, who are prominent in uplift work.

It does not take more than ordinary intelligence to see that this school board is of higher standing and character than would have been chosen by the electors, as few directors of this class would make a campaign against candidates who wanted the office for personal and political reasons. It would have been infinitely better for the courts to have appointed all directors in every class, as that would have taken all school affairs out of politics. Other officials could be appointed by the courts with profit and benefit to the public service and it is to be hoped that changes along this line will be made as soon as possible.

A BUILDING UP POLICY.

A Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer hits the nail on the head when he states that what this country needs in a common sense constructive policy that will deal naturally with natural conditions. In a country with so much available land as the United States there is no necessity for a food problem. All that is necessary is for the people to drop the artificial and go back to the natural. Along this line the writer says:

There is a great constructive platform waiting for either national party that cares to take it up—a platform that will be approved by all people with common sense. It is not a very radical program, either. It consists of those real reforms which the people need and which are far more vital to a country than the tariff. A nation can be self-sustaining without outside aid, just as a man on an island can support himself and grow strong though standing alone. And when millions of people are co-operating they should be able to get along without outside aid.

What the country needs most, then, is the development of its waterways, the building of great new highways that will carry the tide of humanity back to the country where the people need not give a hoot about the trusts, and where if the woolen merchants squeeze too hard, the farmer can make a suit last two years instead of one, thus bringing the dealer to terms. It is more profitable to sell one cheap suit a year than to sell one dear one every two years.

Articles rarely become more expensive as a result of consolidation. Cheaper running expenses usually result in cheaper prices to the consumer—unless the corporation is run by unscrupulous men. What the country has to worry about is food production, and the man who takes up the actual development of the United States, who advocates the elimination of expensive commissions to investigate everything under the sun, and who argues that the country should devote itself to building up and not tearing down for the next few years is going to be a winner.

With such vast resources, such rich soil and such wealth in the soil, this country need never fear for the future so long as it works towards natural development and refuses to pay much attention to the public orators who try to excite the public about artificial remedies for purely natural conditions. Less talk and more work is a school-room maxim that could be applied to the United States during the next decade.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"There is only one way to solve the food problem," said a resident of the hill district a few days ago, "and that is to produce more stuff to eat. Many of my Belgian neighbors have taken advantage of the opportunities that exist in the way of gardening, and utilize them to the utmost. I know families who by reason of the gardens they cultivate, have cut down their family expenses at least a couple of hundred dollars a year. That, for a working man, is a whole lot, in addition to being infinitely better for the family."

"In addition to saving the family income by raising stuff, many add to it by the sale of vegetables. I know one family of six or eight children, who realized enough money by the sale of lettuce, green onions and radishes, to buy shoes all around for the family, and all the stuff was raised on the back end of two 22 by 100 lots. The younger children cultivated the stuff and peddled it from door to door each morning. There's enough vacant land in Charleroi to produce stuff to feed a number of families if it were utilized. The garden is the solution of the food problem."

A recent woman visitor to an Ohio city tells of a weights and measure law in effect there. The woman did not know whether it was a State or a city regulation, but it is up to each consumer to look after his or her interests.

"The regulation provides for sales by weight instead of measure, I was told," said the woman. "For instance you go into a grocery and buy a peck of potatoes. In all probability the grocer will measure them in a peck measure, but if you demand weight, he is obliged to weigh the potatoes by a proportionate bushel standard weight. It is the same with everything that is measured, I am told, and if a customer demands weight the dealer is obliged to give it."

YOUNG DONORA MAN IS SENTENCED FOR BEATING DAUGHTER

Charged with having cruelly beaten his two year old daughter, Mary Maroska, of Donora, Max Maroska, a young foreigner, was in court at Washington Monday sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the workhouse at Claremont for a period of eight months. Maroska's only excuse was that he had drunk a large quantity of alcohol and did not know what he was doing. The child was beaten three different times on three different days and big welts were laid across the child's body. Judge McIlvaine saw the child and the wounds from the whip and said the child was certainly severely beaten.

TIP QUESTION IS SERIOUS

Gratuities of the Season Give a Severe Jolt to Man of Small Income.

"This tip business," said a man of small income, "has come to be a serious matter."

"Every summer I send my wife and daughter to the country, to a modest hotel in a quiet place—does them good and doesn't cost us much more than it would to have them stay home, or didn't use to."

"Years ago we gave some small tips, a little to the waitress and a little to the chambermaid, amounts not great, but now we have to give more to them and we have to give also to the chef and to the housekeeper and so on, something to everybody that does something for us. It seems to be the custom, and it all counts up."

"This year, for instance, I sent the folks along weekly the little check for their board and their other moderate expenses—and they are always careful about those—and everything is going along very pleasantly and I see us settling the financial problem very nicely, and then a week or two before they are coming home we put down a little memorandum of the tips to give when they come away, and do you know that this year these amounted to $30. Thirty dollars; and that gives me—just as it does every year—quite a little jolt. I know it's coming, but I never realize it till it comes."

"You know what Lincoln said about paying bills? that it was easier to pay a big bill if you had the money than a little bill if you hadn't; and that sum up on the tips hits us in something that way. We pay 'em, but it does sort of put the kibosh on our nice little financial schedule."

DEEP MYSTERY OF THE LAW

Man Who Won't Support Family Is Imprisoned and Wife Really Pays Penalty.

Mysteries, far beyond the comprehension of the average mortal, are constantly revealed in the law and its administration. The other day a much-harassed woman appeared in a Boston court and complained to the judge that her husband refused to support their two small children. She could get along without him, she said, but she demanded that he be compelled to go to work and help support his offspring. Her story was corroborated by witnesses.

So the judge found the man guilty and sentenced him to one year in the house of correction.

Here was what seems on the surface to be an easy problem. A husband and father, either through disinclination or through inability to find work, is brought into court on a charge of non-support. In order to relieve the situation, he is sent to the house of correction, where he will be kept at work. That he is not able to send his pay envelope home to his family every Saturday night—because there is no pay envelope in such cases—is, in the eye of the law, a minor circumstance. The main thing seems to be that the man has been guilty of an offense and that he is punished for it. He is punished, but it is his wife and his two helpless children who pay the penalty.

The law may be ironical, but it has no sense of humor. "You have been found guilty of not supporting your children," it says, "and therefore I will send you where you cannot support them."

The Pity of It.
 Just about the time that a woman finds out how to preserve her beauty she discovers that she is so old that it will not be worth while.

LAST WEEK OF THE LAND SHOW

Final Opportunity This Week to See Products Display at Pittsburg

This is the closing week of the big Land Show in the Duquesne Garden, Pittsburg, where have been assembled since October 12, the finest display of farm, garden, orchard and mineral products, from all sections of the country, ever known in the east. Nothing could be more imposing than the magnificent display from West Virginia, whose unsurpassed resources of all kinds have been put before the public with notably fine judgment. Idaho, Texas, Wyoming, California, Colorado and Virginia, also have exhibits whose preparation cost thousands of dollars. Most of these are to be taken to the Land Show in New York next week, when the Pittsburg show is over. This discloses the high character of the displays gotten together in behalf of these different states.

The Duquesne Garden is open from 10 to 11, with music constantly during the afternoon and evening by Caputo's band and the famous band of Hawaiian singers and players. Add to these the free illustrated lectures and moving pictures in the lecture hall, relating to land and soil topics, and the visitor to the Land Show from out the city will find in all this a rare opportunity for profitable and delightful employment of a full day, from the opening to the closing of the doors. The admission is but 25 cents.

Jim's Wife.
 After the report had been current for a week that Jim's wife, whom Jim had met and married and was still secluding in Chicago, was ugly as sin, a friend who had Jim's interests at heart, ran down the author of the rumor with the intention of making her retract.

"How do you know she is ugly?" he asked. "Have you ever seen her?" "No," said the experienced gossip. "I never have, neither have I seen her picture, nor anybody who has seen either her or her picture, but I know she is ugly, because I had it straight from a person who lives in Chicago that when she ordered a dozen pictures taken just a while before the wedding the photographer made her pay in advance, and a photographer never does that unless the subject is so ugly that she is apt to be discouraged when she sees the pictures and refuse to pay for them. In the ground that he hasn't done good work. If you don't believe me ask any photographer."

But Jim's champion let the matter drop.—New York Times.

The Collector.
 The late Edwin A. Abbey had no sympathy with those American millionaires who pay $400,000 or $500,000 for a doubtful Rembrandt or an imputed Fragonard, while painters of genius in their own towns are starving for lack of orders.

Mr. Abbey, at a dinner at his London residence in Tite street, said last year, apropos of the purchase by a New Yorker of a doubtful Titian at an inflated price:

"This type of man knows nothing about art. A man of this type, when Whistler was not yet famous, wanted his wife's portrait done."

"How much will you charge me, Mr. Whistler," he said, "for a lifelike picture of the madam?"

"My price," said Whistler, "will be $5,000."

"The millionaire took up his hat and tick."

"Why," he snorted, turning to go, you expect to be paid for your work if you had been dead 400 or 500 years!"

The Nation of Hotel Keepers.
 The "playground of Europe" is the very appropriate name bestowed upon Switzerland. In the summer time tourists come from all parts of the world and fill the hotels—the best organized and best kept of any in the world—for the Swiss are a nation of hotel keepers. The statement of the Chocolate Soldier, the hero of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," that his family has a home with three hundred rooms, fifty servants, twenty cows and so on, sounded like a baronial tale until he explained that he was the son of a Swiss hotel keeper. Now the long and severe Swiss winter has been turned to advantage, and even when the great, blue lakes are frozen and the snow mantles the lower hills, the tourist still raves over the varied beauties and grandeur of the Swiss scenery and the many delights of her mountain hostelries.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Made Woman's Opportunity.
 American typewriters are sold all over the world. Millions are in use. Nothing else that has been invented has been so potent in affording business opportunity for women. It was after she had entered business as a typist that a woman began to branch out into other lines of endeavor.

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise. For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

Sweet-Voiced Frogs.
 In Japan there is a kind of frog celebrated for his sweet voice. He is called Kajiki, and people pay as much as $10 for a pair of these marsh musicians. A poet in Japan keeps acres of singing frogs at his home, and he sometimes gives a party to his friends, when after listening to the music every guest is asked to write a poem in honor of the frogs.

 The fool who cries "Fire!" in a public assemblage is a far greater public menace than the fool who rocks the boat, for his opportunity to sacrifice human life is immeasurably greater.

BLAME GIRL FOR THEFT OF GOODS

Thirteen-Year-Old Monessen

Miss is Accused of Shoplifting from Stores

Alleged to have taken from various stores a portion of two trunks full of material, Mary Rossi, 13 years old, daughter of Eustachio Rossi, of Monessen, is being held a prisoner at the Monessen lockup. In spite of her age, it is stated, she was compelled to spend the entire night in the borough jail. It is stated that no information has been made against her.

According to the police court story, little Mary was found in the Bouquet flats, taking a watch. She was placed under arrest. Later a search warrant was gotten out, and her home searched with the result that two trunks full of dry goods, clothing, and notions were found in the trunk.

It was tested that part of the goods had been purchased and the remainder given them by Arab peddlers, who remained all night with them. A dozen merchants who examined the contents of the trunks admitted that some might have been purchased. Constable Watt has been given charge of the case and he is busy making deductions. Meanwhile Mary is being held a prisoner.

The Most Stylish Shoe Made

Smart, snug fitting shoes in all the new leathers and fabrics—every one with the wonderful Red Cross Comfort.

In all the newest leathers and fabrics the Red Cross Shoe has smarter lines and fits closer than any other shoe.

Until they saw the Red Cross Style Book or tried on the actual shoe so many women thought that the comfort of a Red Cross Shoe was due to soft leather, a low heel, clumsy lines and loose fit.

As a matter of fact, the comfort of the Red Cross Shoe is due to the way it fits the foot and follows its every movement as a glove moves with the hand.

Red Cross Shoe
"Bends with your foot"

Although of the regular thickness, the sole is perfectly supple. This is due the Special Red Cross Tanning Process which preserves all the natural life and elasticity of the leather—makes the sole bend with every movement of the foot.

It makes the Red Cross Shoe comfortable the first time you wear it. You won't have to go through the torture of "breaking it in."
